Climb until your dream comes true....Helen Steiner Rice

Often your tasks will be many,
and more than you think you can do
Often the road will be rugged and the hills insurmountable too

Always remember, the hills ahead are never as steep as they seem,
and with faith in your heart start upward and climb till you reach your dream

Nothing in life that is worthy is ever too hard to achieve if you have the courage to try it and you have the faith to believe

Faith is a force that is greater than knowledge or power or skill and many defeats turn to triumph if you trust in God's wisdom and will

Faith is a mover of mountains, there is nothing that God cannot do, so start out today with faith in your heart and climb until your dream comes true

So Keep Climbing

Dear All,

Assalamo Alaikum

Friends, It's about 1:20AM, after a heavy, long, stretched day, was in the process of preparing BaKhabar editorial. The enthusiasm of one of my colleague had reminded me a famous saying that "if you have twinkle in your wrinkle, you will surely shine." The other day I encountered a situation which puzzled me a lot...

"I cannot bear these aches and pains of my life, anymore. How I wish I could savor my youth once again", rued a relation of mine. "Age is just a mere number; it is our perspective that matters", I said so, just to pacify him, for, I too was pondering, what will be my state once I enter that twilight zone.

Friends, we all know that age is a natural progression, and even if we deny, resist or detest it, if there is a limit on life set by our Lord, we are going to grow old someday. Then, why is it that most of us dread the thought of growing old? Is it the fear of physical ailments, retirement blues, empty nest syndrome, and not-so-active social life, or the fear of dependency of loosing looks or spouse and abandonment that makes us lose our sleep on withering away of youth?

A feeling came to mind which I am sharing with you all that whatever might be the reasons we cannot rewind the clock. Hence we should relish every stage of our life and make the most of it. By exploring creative pursuits, engaging in hobbies like writing, gardening, doing a bit of social work, talking to like minded people, going for a stroll, doing some meditation, doing some yoga, developing healthy food habits and by being accommodative and adopting to a new life style will definitely add spice to one's life.

There is a lot to be done for Bihar Anjuman. Most of our members are busy, but by growing a habit of doing a bit of social work, they may be able to contribute in many ways. BA is progressing day by day, let us join hands together.

Inside, you will find much information pertaining to the developments and achievements.

Starting next month, we are adding a health related article, inshallah, every month; do give us your feedback on how you want to see your magazine, how may we serve you in the best of our capacities.

Do write to us, do share your thoughts with us; if you like to be part of BaKhabar please do come forward.

Warm regards

On behalf of Team BaKhabar

جہاد کے چار مرتبے ہیں:

⑤ رسول اللہ ﷺ نے جہاد کے تمام میدانوں میں خوب ڈٹ کر جہاد کیا۔

سب سے پہلے نفس کے خلاف جہاد کا معاملہ ہے، اس کے چار مرتبے ہیں:

① دینی مسائل کا علم حاصل کرنے کے لیے جم کر بیٹھنا۔

② دین پر عمل کے سلسلے میں ہوائے نفس کی مخالفت کرنا۔

③ دین کی معرفت کے حصول کے بعد دعوتِ دین میں اپنی جان کھپانا۔

④ دعوتِ دین کے سلسلے میں پہنچنے والی تکلیف و مشقت پر صبر کرنا۔

اس کے بعد شیطان سے جہاد ہے، اس کے دو مرتبے ہیں:

① شیطان کے وساوس و شبہات دور کرنے کے لیے شیطان سے جنگ کرنا۔

② شیطانی شہوات کے سلسلے میں شیطان کا مقابلہ کرنا۔

اس کے بعد کفار کے خلاف جہاد کا معاملہ ہے۔ اس کے بھی چار مراتب ہیں، یعنی:

① دل کے ساتھ جہاد

② زبان کے ساتھ جہاد

③ مال کے ساتھ جہاد

④ اور جسم و جان کے ساتھ جہاد

اس کے بعد ہے ظالموں کے خلاف جہاد کا معاملہ۔ اس کے تین مرتبے ہیں:

① ہاتھ کے ساتھ جہاد

② یہ نہ ہو سکے تو زبان کے ساتھ جہاد

③ اور یہ بھی نہ ہو سکے تو کم از کم دل کے ساتھ جہاد

یہ جہاد کے تیرہ مرتبے ہیں۔ حضرت محمد ﷺ ان تمام مراتب میں کامل و اکمل تھے بلکہ آپ واحد نبی ہیں جنہوں نے جہاد کے مراتب مکمل کیے۔ آپ تمام اوقات جہاد ہی میں مصروف رہتے تھے۔ کبھی دل کے ساتھ جہاد کر رہے ہیں، کبھی زبان کے ساتھ، کبھی جان کے ساتھ اور کبھی مال کے ساتھ۔ اسی لیے آپ عالم انسانیت کی سب سے بڑی شخصیت ہیں اور آپ کی شان تمام جہان سے بلند ہے اور اللہ تعالیٰ کی بارگاہ میں آپ کا مرتبہ سب سے اونچا ہے۔¹

AIMMM Statement on the Delhi blast

New Delhi, 8 September 2011: Dr. Zafarul-Islam Khan, Working President of the All India Muslim Majlis-e Mushawarat, the umbrella body of Indian Muslim organisations, forcefully condemned the terrorist and criminal attack outside the Delhi High Court on 7 September which resulted in so many innocent casualties. He said that the AIMMM demands an honest probe taking into account all possible beneficiaries of this criminal act. He cautioned that the past practice of quickly pointing to some so-called "Muslim" organisations should not be repeated in order to allow the real criminals to cover their tracks.

Reservation for Muslims has been a matter of debate for a long time in India. As per the data collected in 2011 census it was found that 17% of the total population is Muslim in India as compared to the 13.4 percent in 2001 census. Recently, the Chief Minister of Uttar Pradesh, Mayawati has written a letter to the Hon'ble Prime Minister of India for the reservation of Muslims in public sectors and institutions. She pointed out the report of Sachar Committee and the recommendations of the Justice Rangnath Misra Commission as well.

The Prime Ministers High Level Committee (PMHLC) also known as Sachar Committee was constituted by Prime Minister Manmohan Singh to study and identify the socio-economic and educational backwardness of the Muslim community in India. The findings of the committee became a topic of national discussion in India.

The National Commission for Religious and Linguistic Minorities (NCRLM) was constituted in October 2004 by the Government of India. This commission in also known as Ranganath Misra Commission as Justice Ranganath Misra was the chairman of the commission. The Commission was constituted to recommend practical measures for the welfare of socially and economically backward sections among religious and linguistic minorities and to include the modalities of implementation for the same.

The final report of the Ranganath Misra Commission was submitted to the Government in May 2007 but it was not tabled in the Parliament until it got leaked to the media. After sustained pressure from the Members of Parliament the NCRLM Report was finally tabled in the Lok Sabha on Dec 18, 2009 by Minority Minister Salman Khurshid.

Recommendations of the Ranganath Misra Commission includes "at least 15 percent of seats in all nonminority educational institutions should be earmarked by law for the minorities as with 10 for the Muslims (commensurate with their 73 percent share in the total minority population at the national level) and remaining 5 percent for the other minorities".

Recently "Jamia Millia Islamia University" is declared as the Muslim Minority institute where 50% reservation has been given to the Muslim Community. This is the only Central University that has been declared as minority institute.

Muslim reservation has always been an issue for the arguments in the corridors of the politics. Each and every political party wants to cash the votes of Muslim Community in the name of reservation either in positive sense or negative. Parties like BJP, Shiva Sena, VHP and RSS cash the votes of Hindus by opposing Muslims' reservation while at the same time other parties like BSP, SP and congress cash the votes of Muslim Community by giving comments in favor of Muslim Reservation but no one is serious to provide the reservation to Muslim community.

Building a Career

Today, and more than ever, most people are responsible for building their own careers.

Whether you are just starting, or you have several years of experience, these paragraphs might help you advance your career.

The 9 most important career planning tips are listed below:

1. Never Stop Learning

Life-long learning is your keyword.

The world is constantly changing, and everybody is looking for new ways of doing business. If you have decided that your current skills are good enough, you have also decided that your current job is good enough. But if you want a career in the future, you should add regular updates to your skills and knowledge.

2. Ask, Listen and Learn

A good listener can learn a lot.

Listen to your co-workers, your boss, and your superiors. You can learn a lot from their experience. Ask about issues that interest you, and listen to what they say. Let them tell you about how things work, and what you could have done better.

Most people will love to be your free tutor.

3. Fulfill Your Current Job

Your current job might be best place to start your career.

It is often very little that separates successful people from the average. But nothing comes free. If you do your job well and fulfill your responsibilities, this is often the best way to start a new career.

Talk to your supervisor about things you can do. Suggest improvements. Offer your help when help is needed. In return ask for help to build a better career. It is often possible - right inside your own organization - especially if you have proved to be a valued employee.

4. Build Your Network

Your next career step might arise from your contact network.

Did you know that more than 90% of all jobs are obtained from contact networks?

If you have a good contact network, it is also a good place to discover future careers, to explore new trends, and to learn about new opportunities.

Spend some time building new contacts, and don't forget to maintain the ones you already have.

One of the best ways to get serious information from your network is to regularly ask your contacts how they are, what they do, and what is new about their careers.

5. Identify Your Current Job

Your current job should be identified, not assumed.

Make sure you don't work with tasks you assume are important. This is waste of time and talent.

When you start in a new job, talk to your superior about your priorities. If you're not sure about what is most important, then ask him. And ask him again. Often you will be surprised about the differences between what you assume, and what is really important.

6. Identify Your Next Job

Your dream job must be identified.

Before you start planning your future career, be sure you have identified your dream job.

In your dream job, you will be doing all the things you enjoy, and none of the things you don't enjoy. What kind of job would that be?

Do you like or dislike having responsibility for other employees. Do you like to work with technology or with people? Do you want to run your own business? Do you want to be an artist, a designer or a skilled engineer? A manager?

Before building your future career your goal must be identified.

7. Prepare Yourself

Your dream might show up tomorrow. Be prepared.

Don't wait a second. Update your CV now, and continue to update it regularly.

Tomorrow your dream job may show up right before your nose. Prepare for it with a professional CV and be ready to describe yourself as a valuable object to anyone that will try to recruit you.

If you don't know how to write a CV, or how to describe yourself, start learning it now.

8. Pick the Right Tools

Pick the tools you can handle.

You can build your future career using a lot of different tools.

You can add a lot to your career by studying books and tutorials.

Doing short time courses with certification tests might add valuable weight to your CV. And don't forget: Your current job is often the most valuable source of building new skills.

Don't pick a tool that is too heavy for you to handle!

9. Realize Your Dreams

Put your dreams into action.

Don't let a busy job kill your dreams. If you have higher goals, put them into action now.

If you have plans about taking more education, getting a better job, starting your own company or something else, you should not use your daily job as a "waiting station". Your daily job will get more and busier, you will be caught up in the rat race, and you will burn up your energy.

If you have this energy, you should use it now, to realize your dreams.

Let's congratulate the new team of Bihar Anjuman's Delhi chapter for their determination to help the community despite all the challenges they face. Subhanallah! While other chapters are mooting on the idea, Delhi has already decided to raise funds for the poor students of Bihar Anjuman's RAHBAR.e.Banat madrasa-cum-school. They already decided to transfer Rs. 7,800/= for the purpose, on 21st September, Alhamdulillah.

Bihar Anjuman's Delhi chapter had also previously contributed towards the admission expenses of Diploma Engg students, in July 2011.

In August, they got about a hundred brothers together for an Iftarget-together.

And, now, they have taken the following 2 important decisions.

1. Delhi Chapter will contribute for dress of 10 students of RAHBAR e Banaat (1 set + Sweater), fund of Rs. 7800 transferred to RAHBAR-e-Banat account.
2. Free Class Room coaching along with Free practical will be organized for Tally & Autocad in Collaboration with Netzone CyberCafe, Madangir, Khanpur, New Delhi. A separate e-mail for application to join free coaching shall follow.

Indian Muslims and Power of Media

Have a look on the media houses of India and around the world, what we see is a grim picture of the presence of Muslims in media. In spite of the revolution in media and its wider reach on any issue, Indian Muslims are unaware of the power of media. For them, raising the voice of the community is not their responsibility, but that of the government and media. They are unaware that the government media is controlled by the government for its own interest while the private media looks for profit both in term of commercial advertisement and government favours. The big tycoons of Indian business are those Marwari, Sindhi, Bohra etc who are politically attached to the right wings. For them their business is main concern which can be enlarged by managing support from the political masters. They don't like that media should raise such issues which are related to the minorities in general and the Muslims in particular. And so, they don't only establish their own media houses to boost their political chances but also to earn huge profits.

The electronic media in India was revolutionized by the coming of "Aaj Tak" sympathies towards the causes of Hindu right wing politics is well known. The other visual media which followed Aaj Tak were NDTV, Zee TV, IBN7, Star TV etc; all are very much attached to the ideologies of different political parties of India and abroad. ETV Urdu which was launched by Cherukuri Ramoji Rao focused mainly on the cultural side of Indian Muslims leaving aside the persistent issues tormenting the Indian Muslims. The main issues that Indian Muslims are facing like communalism, terrorism, and marginalization remain out of the focus of most of the mainstream media.

From the very beginning the print media which focused on the secular trend of journalism were also swayed away towards communal ideologies post Babri Masjid incident. Some newspapers focused on the modernization of Indian Muslim's culture (modernization means assimilation with the culture of majority community) while others focused on promoting the communal divide to serve the interest of right wing political parties, and raising their own TRPs. Only few newspapers adhere to the secular trend, now, to promote unity of the nation. The "Rashtriya Sahara Urdu" under editorship of Aziz Burney and "The Hindu" under N. Ram, somehow, remain on secular lines of the country. The sold out "Inqalab" of Mumbai to Dainik Jagran group are major setbacks to Urdu media. The case of Hindi media for the cause of Muslims is beyond the limits of imagination. Most of the Hindi newspapers are forefront regiment of communal political parties. The Hindi media highlights only those issues related to the Muslims which project the negative image of Indian Muslims. The case of Shah Bano, Imrana etc. are just a few representative examples. Hindi media also works on maligning the religious beliefs, religious institutions, social issues of Indian Muslims. Nowadays, raising issues related to terrorism, Madrasa and Islamic Sharia as sources of fundamentalism are favourite pastime of Hindi media.

Among the weekly Urdu newspapers the "Nai Dunia" and the "Aalmi Sahara" are now running well but lack in quality of content. Most of the stories printed in these weeklies move around the sentimental issues in tune with the prevailing emotions. After reading the stories in these two weeklies, one can easily judge the motives behind this sort of journalism.

The need of present time is to understand the power of media for the advancement of the community. Media plays very crucial role, right from projecting issues to attracting discussions and debates, solutions and attention of the government. But unfortunately, Indian Muslims are not realizing the power of media. For them raising issues is not their work but the responsibility of the government and secular media. What a wise step it would be if Indian Muslims pump the billions of Zakat and Auqaf money into establishing a powerful media house to enlighten the people of the nation and the world. The financial crunch of Muslim media house should be met by the Zakat Fund.

On the other hand, educated Muslims should explore the opportunity of establishing internet based media by starting many websites for news, views, and issues of the community. One such fine exemplary internet based media is TCN launched by Kashiful Hoda and associates. The citizen journalist should be mantra for internet media. The use of mobile for the purpose of videographing important events can bring miracles. Gone are the days when to start an electronic media a huge amount was needed. Now a person just needs a mobile, and a website to display the contents captured by the mobile, to start an internet based media.

Hope that in coming days, the Muslim media houses would not be a day dream but a reality for the development of the country and the people. Let us start to think of own media and news agencies.

FAILURE IS NEVER ENDING AND SUCCESS IS NEVER FINAL-

The powers of mind are like the rays of the sun dissipated. When they are concentrated, they illumine.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN YOURSELF? IF YES the article is for you and if NO then also this article is for you.

But please for ALLAH sake, stop cursing the situation, the government, the policy, our economic situation, our backwardness, etc.

Why don't you believe in yourself? What is stopping you to believe that you are the one who will and who has to change the world?

Why don't you accept that your success is not only your success, but this success is for your family, your colony/village, your entire Muslims community, your town, your state and your nation too?

Thus, if you really want to serve and provide strong foundation to our MUSLIM COMMUNITY then really works hard with a target.

Please do not waste time in useless gossips, useless argument, and useless wastage of time and so on.

Work with a target and goal in your mind.

When, I was preparing for IIT-JEE in Patna, I, including myself, would indulge in useless arguments, sometimes on Politics, sometimes on Cricket, sometimes on movies and unending other gossips.

Students would sit hours on tea stalls with newspaper in their hands as if they are the future PRABHU CHAWLA of AAJTAK and present their views.

Sometimes, the students would wake up till late hours and only browse their notes and again sleep to wake up late with an oath that from next SUNDAY, I will work hard. But, unfortunately the promised day will never come. When the result of any exams will come, then the system will be refreshed for few days and study would be serious for a week.

After a week, the same old routine of working without enthusiasm and seriousness will start.

This eventually leads to failure, of which we MUSLIMS have become used to.

We don't think that we don't have to be a part of the chain of unemployment, poverty, lack of power, lack of direction.

WE have to change ourselves, otherwise we will only dream or curse, but will not be able to achieve anything.

When the results of CAT, XLRI, UPSC, IIT, AIIMS, CBSE PMT/ENGINEERING, NDA, CDS, etc comes, we rarely find MUSLIMS in the list. There are many exams where the name and religion are not deciphered till the end, but still we could rarely find the names of our MUSLIM BROTHERS and SISTERS. Now, your excuse of blaming is finished.

It is you who have to wake up.

Now, I would summarize few things for success-

1. Be a punctual 5 times NAMAZI. This is your due for ALMIGHTY ALLAH and this will help you to wake up early and

By-Fasi Haider (fasihaider@yahoo.co.in) increase your concentration and help will surely come from ALMIGHTY ALLAH.

2. Work hard and smart. Remember 2-3 years of hardship will earn you 40 years of comfort. So, the choice is yours 2-3 years of hardship and 40 years of comfort OR 2-3 years of comfort and 40 years of hardship.

3. Don't be involved in LOVE AFFAIRS. If you have to love anything, and then at least for few years love your career, love your books, and love your ambition. There is plenty of time in life for other things.

4. Don't be involved in useless gossips or useless activities. You can equate 1 minute as 10 rupees and calculate how much each day you wasted in useless gossips and activities. Plan and execute your every minute.

5. Make a target for completing the syllabus and revising it many times with ample practice of question banks and previous years question papers.

6. Remember your competition is not with a bunch of students, but hundred of thousands of students from the entire nation.

7. Remember, your success is not only yours but for your entire family and for your MUSLIMS community too.

8. PRACTISE, PRACTISE AND PRACTISE. Mark your performance against the nation.

9. Remember, in a race, if a competitor rests for a while or walks with ease, he loses. So, you must work hard and with good pace to be ahead of others.

10. Eat light foods and some brain foods too. Take normal rest too

11. Don't waste time.

INSHALLAH, if you work hard, we can build a better MUSLIM WORLD with hundred of thousands of CIVIL SERVICES OFFICERS, IITian, Doctors, Engineers, Professors, Scientists, Entrepreneurs, officers in every branches of government, and will have better MUSLIMS representation in Government.

So, this challenge is for you.

WILL YOU ACCEPT IT?

DO YOU HAVE THE COURAGE IN YOU?

TRY, TRY and TRY until you SUCCEED.

As the clouds were becoming dusky and gray, lost in my thoughts I was walking towards my place after a combined study with my friend. Suddenly, a hand clutched into my hands. Shuddered, I looked back.

"Didi, where are you going?"

Surprisingly, I gazed into those sparkling dark brown eyes while my ears heard these words. I was wondering who the little creature is, but couldn't recognize as it was our first meeting.

"To my home" _ I replied.

The little one would have been some 8 years old. In the dark winter evening, she was strolling all alone in a blue worn out frock which seemed to be discarded by one and accepted by her happily. And to fight with the chilling wind, a so called sweater covered her body and a pair of slippers which were quite bigger than the size of her feet. With all this she also wore a captivating smile on her face which hypnotized me.

"What is your name and where are you roaming all alone?" I enquired.

"My name is Uzma" she replied confidently. "I am returning from the peeli kothi where I wash dishes and mop floors and now going back home."

"Do you go to school"...I asked.

"No", the reply came with a sad tone.

I was astonishingly observing this young working girl that was still holding my hand and walking along with me.

"How much do you earn?"

"Rs 1400, 600 from the peeli kothi and 800 from the bada makan ."

She replied after a little calculation. I work only in the evening she added.

"Then what do you do the whole day?"

"I have to look after my two younger brothers and cook food for the day as my mother is a maid and my father is a whitewasher. There was a moment of silence all around, and I felt deeply attached with the girl.

I asked her where was her home, she told me somewhere on the right corner at the end of the street as we were walking in the opposite direction. I told her to go home but she urged to see the place where I lived and then leave.

Without a word, I took her to my place while numerous questions were arising in my mind. Is this the condition of the majority of the girl child in our nation?

How these children have lost their childhood among those dirty plates of others?

Who is responsible for all this? Aren't we?

Suddenly she said with a hope in her voice... " Didi, will you teach me?"

Seemed she was longing to study. Before I could think anything these words came out of my mouth.

"Sure dear, I'm there for you. So at what time are you free every day?"

Rejoiced, she answered.. after 7 p.m. and promised to meet the next day.

The fine eloquence in her voice was awesome and her desire to learn was fabulous.

She was still holding my hand but now more firmly as her trust grew stronger. I send her back home but I was left behind in a pool of questions.

Was that the face of millions of such children who wish to lead a normal childhood life?

Or

Was the future of the nation holding my hand in hope of help?

Uzma never came back...and even I couldn't trace her where she lived.

She promised but couldn't turn up just like the numerous laws which have no result.

New Delhi, 20 September 2011: A New Delhi publisher has just brought out "Godse's Children - Hindutva Terror in India", the first book on Hindutva terror. Authored by the veteran writer Subhash Gatade, the book covers one of the hottest subjects in modern Indian history - Hindutva terror perpetrated by about a dozen terrorist outfits allied to the Sangh Parivar. Spread over 400 pages, the book is an exhaustive study of this phenomenon which was first exposed by the Maharashtra ATS chief Hemant Karkare after these terror outfits remained active for years exploiting a most ingenious way in which both the victims and the arrested "terrorists" were Muslims.

The book looks into the ideological and historical roots of Hindutva terrorism, foreign linkages and dimensions, main outfits, actors, planners and ideologues, major terror blasts and explosions by these outfits, which remain mostly unprobed, and why investigating agencies are going slow on some of the known playboys of Hindutva terror.

The book has been brought out by Pharos Media. Earlier in 2009, it had published "Who Killed Karkare?" which has been translated into seven Indian languages and has changed the perception of terrorism in the country.

Interesting 'facts' CREDIT TO SARDARS

We all love Sardar jokes. But do you know that Sikhs are one of the hardest working, prosperous and diversified communities in the world!

My friend told me about the following incident which I wish to share with you. It has had a deep impact on my thinking.

During the last vacation, a few friends came to Delhi. They rented a taxi for local sight-seeing. The driver was an old Sardar and boys being boys, these pals began cracking Sardarji jokes, just to tease the old man. But to their surprise, the fellow remained unperturbed..

At the end of the sight-seeing, they paid the cab hire charges. The Sardar returned the change, but he gave each one of them one rupee extra and said, "Sons, since morning you have been telling Sardarji jokes. I listened to them all and let me tell you, some of them were in bad taste. Still, I don't mind coz I know that you are young blood and are yet to see the world. But I have one request. I am giving you one rupee each. Give it to the first Sardar beggar that you come across in this or any other city!!!"

My friend continued, "That one rupee coin is still with me. I couldn't find a single Sardar begging anywhere."

MORAL:

The secret behind their universal success is their willingness to do any job with utmost dedication and pride. A Sardar will drive a truck or set up a roadside garage or a dhaba, run a fruit juice stall, take up small time carpentry, ... but he will never beg on the streets

حضرت ابی امامہ صدیق بن عثمان باہلی رضی اللہ عنہ رسول اکرم ﷺ سے روایت کرتے ہیں کہ آپ نے فرمایا اللہ تعالیٰ کو دو قطرے اور دو نشانوں سے زیادہ اور کوئی چیز محبوب نہیں ہے۔ ایک آنسوؤں کا وہ قطرہ جو اللہ تعالیٰ کے خوف سے گرا ہو اور دوسرا خون کا وہ قطرہ جو اللہ تعالیٰ کے راستے میں بہا جائے۔ اور ان دو نشانوں میں سے ایک نشان وہ ہے جو اللہ تعالیٰ کے راستے میں (جہاد کرتے ہوئے) لگا ہو اور دوسرا جو اللہ تعالیٰ کے فرائض میں سے کسی فرض کی ادائیگی میں لگا ہو۔

OUR JOURNEY TO THE DAY OF RESURRECTION

PART-V

Gheyas S Mahfoz Hashmi, Jeddah
(hgheyas@savola.com)

In previous issue an overview about Soul and its dwelling in Aalam-e-Barzakh till the Day of Resurrection was presented. Now we are going to discuss about next stage where this world will be completely destroyed as there is no necessity for this world to be existing further. This stage is known as QIYAMAT.

QIYAMAT: After a halt, the human journey has to be continued from Qabr (Graveyard) to Mahshar (Resurrection). This is the 3rd stage of the journey. One day Allah Almighty will destroy this world and whatever therein. This process is known as Qiyamat. Quran and Hadith present detailed description of Qiyamat, accountability, suffering to non-believers, grace to believers and awfulness of Akhirat so that the man can pass his life in this world understanding the nature of his worldly responsibility and accordingly accountability towards Allah Almighty. Qiyamat is known by several names in Quran such as Alwaqiah (Inevitable Event), Attaghabun (Mutual Loss & Gain), Alhaqqah (Surely Reality), Alghashiah (Overwhelming Event), Alzilzal (Convulsion), Alqariah (Sudden Calamity), and Assaihah (Cry), etc. Some of these are names of the Surah of the Quran itself. Attaghabun is most meaningful world.

The Quran presents the occurrence of Qiyamat as a calamity that will be suddenly befalling, i.e. the earth will be broken apart, the mountain will be flying, the skies will be jolted and will be getting red similar to the colourful skin, and the moon will be lightless. The man will be like scattering insects. The Qiyamat is however a giant event and the explosion of nuclear bomb is nothing comparing to it. So, Allah Almighty describes the horrible happening of this event in Chapter (Sura) Haj (1&2) as:

O Mankind! Fear your Lord. Lo! the earthquake of the Hour (of Doom) is a tremendous thing. On the day when you behold it, every nursing mother will forget her nursing and every pregnant one will be delivered of her burden, and you will see mankind as drunken, yet they will not be drunken, but the Doom of Allah will be strong (upon them).

Three bugles (trumpets) will be blown and its true nature of blowing is unknown. Quran either separately describes 3 stages of Qiyamat which will be occurring one by one in different time or describes these events collectively from one stage to another.

Janab Md. Shoaib Ansari Sb, delivering his talk, said that it was a delightful moment to witness Rahbar's endeavors in this remote area. He, discussing his long association with Bihar Anjuman, dealt in detail with the aims and objectives of Bihar Anjuman and the roles played by it. He was all praise for Janab Shakeel Ahmad who organized Bihar Anjuman afresh with his untiring efforts. He described the establishment of RCC as a great opportunity for the poor students of this locality. He said that he matriculated from the local Rajendra Prasad High School, and he still remembers his teachers' names. During those days, he recalled, there were no such facilities, and the teachers were given lots of respect. He said that besides teachers, parents/guardians also played an important role in honing their children. He asked the students to concentrate, whole-heartedly, on their studies, keeping everything else aside. He described the challenges ahead and said that one must equip himself with the wealth of knowledge. He said that, looking at the background of these students, we do not have to be disheartened

Prof. (Dr.) Jai Kishore Choudhary visited RCC for the first time and it surprised him to realize that there is such a platform in this area from where a self-less service is being imparted to the Nation. He said that people often talk about this and that Committees' reports on the plight of the Indian Muslims and about their inclusion in the mainstream but few have the caliber, stamina and the vision to change the situation. Bihar Anjuman, is, thus imparting a great service by organizing a team of educated, awakened, sincere, dedicated Muslims. He called it a service to the Nation and asked the students to gain as much they can from those people behind this movement. Education is not meant only for getting a job or service, it makes a child perfect, and it makes him an obedient son/daughter, an honest and devoted citizen. He cited various examples including those of Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan and A.P.J. Abdul Kalam who used their education and knowledge for the betterment of society and Nation. Recalling his own student life he said that he belongs to a remote rural area of Bhagalpur where there were no schools nearby. He used to travel 8 kilometers on foot, to and fro school, with a sac of books and a rag to sit upon. The situation is different now as we can find schools everywhere. It is up to the students to utilize the facilities at hand. Don't take life as a bed of roses, acquire knowledge and education, serve your community, serve your society, serve your Nation, spread brotherhood and wisdom, Dr. Choudhary advised the students.

The vote of thanks was given by Janab Sharfuddin. The ceremony concluded at 6:00 p.m. Soon after the conclusion a counseling session for the teachers was organized wherein all the teachers, the guests and members of the management committee were present.

Make muscle pain a memory with ginger

When Danish researchers asked achy people to jazz up their diets with ginger, it eased muscle and joint pain, swelling and stiffness for up to 63 percent of them within two months. Experts credit ginger's potent compounds called gingerols, which prevent the production of pain-triggering hormones. The study-recommended dose: Add at least 1 teaspoon of dried ginger or 2 teaspoons of chopped ginger to meals daily.
